Arrival & Car Parking Facilities

- Arrival is from 2pm. Once you've opened the metal gate to gain access to Tristram Camp Site you drive down a short slope and bare right in to the St. Hilary Field. Follow the gravel track down through the pitches and then turn right, a short drive (25m) across the grass will take you straight to the parking area for Rigi and the Front door. There are plenty of free parking immediately outside the property, one space is hard standing and the rest is laid to grass.
- Upon arrival please call into the campsite reception office to pick up the keys. Reception is situated in the main building in the adjacent camping field.

Main Entrance, Reception & Ticketing Area

- The main entrance is the sliding patio door into the sun room. The door slides to the right and there is a short step over the threshold of the door frame. The floor is laid with traditional Cornish slate with a door mat and rug between the front door and the internal front door. This is accessed up a single step and through a traditional wooden & glass door with glass panels either side, which hinges open to the left. This door way opens into the hall way. There is a light switch on the right hand side of the door. Should any arrivals be expected to arrive after dark we will always leave a light on ready. Once you've entered the hall way and bare to the right, the door on the left takes you into the lounge/dining room where you will find your welcome pack upon the dining table.
